

BEHOLD....It has begun - Change and the Emerging Reality

From a Reading by Robert Ghost Wolf

Humanity and the process of becoming.

I have had thousands of E-mail letters from people all around the world who have listened to me over the years on Coast-to-Coast Radio, who have come to the gatherings and events and shared with me all these years, saying, "Thank you for being there." This has been a year of deep emotions has it not? As we look around us at the world, it would seem as if FEAR has taken over the whole of humanity since that terrible morning of September 11, 2001.

White Dove Conclaves, a series of gatherings which I was assisting in putting together, had to cancel their major event in Seattle, Washington... scheduled for this past September. The speakers themselves were fearful of their safety as well as those who might be flying into Seattle to attend the event...this kind of thing happened with caring people all over the country. For many of us our personal world, as well as our business world is still shaking from the aftershocks...

The letters I have been receiving as of late definitely have taken a turn as of September 2001. I was glad to see that people were looking deeper into the cosmology of the human spirit, realizing that FEAR only begets more fear. We have as humanity - created dance, and like a waltz we keep going round and round in the constant loop through cycles of self-destruction, hostile competition, greed and material worship.

I wish I was wrong, but what is before us, at least at this point in the cycle, is pretty self-evident and we are all watching the reality of it manifesting before our eyes. And in case you've missed any thing? Well, don't worry you can catch up tonight on TV..

From the many of you out there who write me, it seems most are seeing intensified shifts all throughout their lives and in their relationships...How many of us feel about things has changed completely since a year ago today, and many of our friends and companions at the work place have moved on. And as far as the old neighborhood... Where you grew up as a kid? Well, that is a thing of the past...If you go back it will almost be another country...and with that occurring across the country, in many ways we have lost a small part of our national treasure.

It sort of reminds me of the 70's when half of America bought a Volkswagen mini-van and we would catch up with friends from two years ago at a Grateful Dead Concert...seven states later. Well, that was, for most of us, 30 years ago and it looks like many of the old faces are showing up in our lives again...only now there is a touch of gray in what's left of our hair... But fear not, "We will get by."

I had a friend who recently made the comment that I will share with you. She found her life going through constant cycles of rehiring employees, restructuring her business, and changing friends almost on a monthly basis as people kept moving in and out of her life.

Relationships? Well, as she put it, it is almost like every one is having a surface relationship only. No one seemed to have any time any more, or cared to really grow into knowing you... Almost like they were on a vacation and not expecting to be around long. Relationships have become carry out...

Having a particular bad day at her business, dealing with shifting realities she told me " I find I can deal with these emotional storms if I give them a name like we do with hurricanes...regarding this latest emotional storm, I can say, "I just survived don Bruno..." and then I can let it go and move back into myself. So if this works for you try it, but at least know that you are not alone in your plight. Everyone is going through similar experiences; we just are learning to handle them in different ways

Just prior to the event of 911 to many it appeared as if time seemed to be slowing; it was difficult to just move ahead and make it through the day. Energy fluctuations were extreme, and stress levels were abnormally high and a good night's sleep was hard to come by. Chemtrials sickness was affecting everyone, with lung infections, flu-like symptoms, chronic fatigue, Carpal tunnel, fatty cysts appearing throughout the body, serious sinus infections...the list goes on.

As we looked around us here in America, and the world for that matter, humanity was fractalizing into ever more diversified groups, one side against the other. This was the general tone of thousands of pieces of correspondence we received not only those from here in America but from around the globe, as people wrote to us from Siberia, Thailand, South America, Africa, Australia and Europe.

Everyone had a feeling that they could not explain or rationalize, yet they knew something was going to happen, that something was building up. People were looking to the heavens, to the psychics; they were tearing up celebrity's private lives, the internet was filled with "Do you want to find out about your mysterious neighbor?" ads..

In America even the Office of the Presidency offered no sanctuary from the accusing and judgmental public eye. As one walked through the streets of many towns and our once great cities, the feeling you got was one similar to how the French Revolution was, with the growing seething anger of the mobs being ever present.

Yes, it was a nasty time especially for the seers and channels and spiritually orientated beings of our world, who Zealot Christian groups, and the subject of a new form of slander and libel campaigns would target. This was and is often times being accomplished through the uncontrolled media that has coined its own term Cyber-Terrorism. There can be little wonder that we all saw the boil burst on that fateful morning of September 11, as something actually did happen, something terrible. The problem is where has the poison gone?

Over the last decade I have shared my work with literally millions of you on the airwaves. In that time I have put many Prophecies to the pen, along with, as well, many of those told by the elders with whom I worked. These works were the road maps indicating the emerging circumstances leading us to much of what is occurring in these times as we watch the evening news.

Remember, for the most part people do not change openly. That takes courage. Humanity has been conditioned over the generations to change stealthily..... to make legislation in the quiet of the night and to use lawyers to create new laws while we sleep... Most people are unaware of the change until they are dealing with its results... We are re-learning to see it coming..

The messengers have been sounding their trumpets for neigh onto 20 years, yet most warnings often fell upon deaf ears and sleeping minds. People were not changing; much of the easy availability to instant access meditation and enlightenment only seemed to lead to yet another path of escapism. So most just sat back and watched as the high-speed train of social consciousness was out of control and running out of track.

Each thing transpiring upon this Emerald Planet occurs as a result of what we ourselves have rendered into the infrastructure of the hologram that makes up our fragile experience we call reality, and as well, affects the reality and environment of every living thing upon her divine embodiment.. Our Thought Creates the Nature of Reality, whether they are good thoughts or not so good thoughts.

Yet it seems the human society behaves more like a child sneaking cookies from the cookie jar, does it not.... Always thinking Grandma won't notice one more infraction and because they cannot perceive the magnitude of the Earth, for the flea cannot see the buffalo, save the hair on its back, they keep taking from the cosmic account of man.

There are times recently when I myself have had to sit in awe of what is occurring as the prophecies manifest before us on a daily basis. Many times when we see in vision we cannot tell what is the triggering mechanism or event enabling the manifested vision to actually come about. Sometimes it can be absolutely horrific to see through the veils. And there is not one of us who has the gift, who from time-to-time consider the gift a curse and regret ever taking the first step along the path.

I receive a constant flow of correspondence from people about their having a sense that time itself stood still for several days as an unexpected but not unforeseen event played itself out over and over again in the drama upon the television sets in millions of homes across America and the world. If they only knew, or is it better phrased, if only they could understand how close to the truth they were.

The events of September 11 or what the media has casualized as 911, have changed the world, not just for us here in America. The events of that terrible morning have changed how humanity is thinking, and the actions many are taking in their life's journey. It would seem the wheels of time are no longer stuck as a result of 911; we are in the throws of Change.

But how are we changing, and what are we becoming? Ahh... there is where we must look to tell the direction of our ultimate and perhaps final destiny as a living thinking realizing species.

Will we come up to the mark and take responsibility for our actions as humanity?

Will we seek the pathway of wisdom, or the fury and rage of those lesser vibrations, which only serve to keep us in gridlock upon a path from which there is little hope for the survival of the species?

If we look around us and pull ourselves out of the spin of the orchestrated chaos, we will fast realize that our rivers still run with the blood of greed and lust.... and all that life itself depends upon in our natural resources remains contaminated to such a degree that in many places the Earth is unable to sustain life.

Everywhere upon our globe the water as well as the vegetation can no longer sustain through normal cycles, and in many, many places species, both animal as well as vegetable, are disappearing..

As we look upon the farmers' fields we see parched and withering crops, as the farmers themselves sell their belongings to try to make it through yet another month, waiting for the auctioneer's block.

Upon the open range in the land once the myth of cowboys and cattle barons, we see the ravaged landscapes, where cattle starve and the willow no longer grow along the once fertile and lush creek beds. Rattlesnakes and coyotes now rule the western range, as each day and each day the cattle baron prays another sod buster will come along and buy a piece of his once vast empire.. And across the valley, we witness another family giving up hope, as yet another human dream lays in waste.

The very air we breathe has become toxic to the degree that the New Plagues the prophets warned us about are already upon the land. The Cob Webs in the sky that the Hopi saw so many thousands of years ago in their visions are there for the whole of the world to witness. Children are being born without brains and limbs, animals are being born possessing both male and female genitals... Frogs with five legs, and rabbits with four ears... Birds fall from our skies by the hundreds, and the fish turn belly-up in red tide along our shores...

People are being eaten up by flesh eating viruses; hundreds of thousands of domestic livestock are being slaughtered not only here in America, but even in the fields of England and China... No, this is not my prediction, it is no one's gloom and doom forecasting of some dark and dismal future reality... It is now the Evening News.

The media is filled with stories of our children roaming the streets with no hope of a safe and welcoming future... the very streets that we the adults fear for our very lives to walk alone. The nightmare in America is made small in comparison to the Third World's, which get used as a field for chemical testing and war games.

It has been estimated nearly 70% of the children in the world today are being raised by single mothers raising the families, usually with the assistance of some sort of social assistance program. And those children never get to know the emotion of, or the relationship of father around the home fires. It is as the Hopi said of this time " Kyano'squatsi - a world out of balance."

Our elders are cast aside, abandoned by a society that duped them into following a false carrot called social security. We can see hundreds of thousands of them living in trailer parks along the freeway, strangely forgotten by the news media. And if they are lucky, they got out of the rat race before the gate fell down behind them. It is like a secret society the Media as well as the general population is not looking at, but non-the-less, it is brutally real for those who live it.

Many of these elders were once our heroes. They fought wars to keep us FREE. Many of them are suffering from exposure to years of experimental chemical intake, through their food as well as being living guinea pigs for medical and scientific experimentation, which has left them in far too many instances physically impaired and in more than acceptable numbers, homeless. Their children, who have neither the time nor the ability to cope with the situation, leave them more than often like children to wander the streets. I wish I were fooling.

But fear not, industry has come up with a very profitable solution for this...And thousands are left to live out their days as members of the dying farms which their children in turn view this abstract reality begin to realize that in the end of this mad and senseless cycle, this will one day become their fate as well...Is anyone thinking about the premise of "hospices", and how they actually operate... And homes for the elderly?...It is ghoulish.

Yes, some are aware and nothing that I speak is not known, yet we sit paralyzed watching the Great Dying occur all around us...Paralyzed to the extent of non-action by our own fear...So I ask you, where does humanity turn?

I look around as I walk through the aftermath of the tragedy of 911 and cannot help but ask myself has humanity turned to God, to Spirit, to our Angelic self? Has humanity sought to strive for the higher answers? For the possible solution to the very problems that lead up to and cause individuals to commit such heinous acts of barbarism? Or has humanity only held closer the old paradigm of war and hatred that in fact breeds FEAR and separatism, and hate? Is humanity re-birthing the situation fostering the very consciousness that breeds the terrorist thinking we seek to extinguish? We will have to wait and see, will we not.

For this drama has only begun, and the lines are being drawn as the spectators, the critics and the dancers prepare themselves for their starring roles in the Armageddon, which is no less than the ultimate human drama of self-destruction. The directors are already casting the characters for the roles they will play in these final days.

Is everyone blanketed in this dismal scenario, you might be asking at this moment?...NO. Everyone is not. And it is to the hope of humanity, the dreamers who still dare to dream, those who dare to seek relationship and union with their spiritual self I address this message. This message is for the children of God....These are scary times, and like in any fairy tale we must make it past what can often seem like certain doom. Parts of the journey are filled with monsters, and things which go bump in the night...

We are in the part of the fairy tale where we must deal with the Dark wizards, those who cast spells upon the unaware hero and heroine and we watch them become stronger, and renewed with purpose as they reunite with their spirit self and learn to deal with the uncertainty of the otherworldly... and the path that lies before them.

We watch them grow through and move beyond their fears, which are always present... Fear is always present... What changes is our perception from the field of battle. Remember there is always help from the spirit world, so it is not just the Creature from the dark who comes in the formless manner of Spirit...

In fact most things of Spirit are not of man, and the darkness more than often is illusion, as we find out often enough. That which has become evil has been held captive and not allowed to be its true self....or like in the Jim Henson tale of The Dark Crystal, the darkness is really part of the light...and it is the separation of the two that causes the pain and suffering....The problem most of us are having to deal with right now is that we are not watching it, we are starring in the movie....We have become the characters themselves.....

Ahh...To marvel at the nature of the dream, to become so locked into the drama of it all that we forget we are only in a dream, and forget we have the ability to wake up from the dream itself. We so easily, it seems, begin to believe in the illusion that we are the dream instead of the dream maker...

Therefore, let us become daring; let us take a gamble and seek if only once, to own ourselves.. Let us journey into the probability about these things that are and may be coming. Let us see through the looking glass at that which can occur...

beyond the blindness of limited thinking. Let us play out the scenarios of the drama as they now lie before us, to see what we might change...

Let us take a look into the future -
Through the Eye of the Shaman....

Humanity in the process of becoming....

What shall I become?

What is it that I have been, that I would now become something else?

What place shall I issue forth to in the becoming?

Where did we come from?

And what is the reason for our becoming in the first place?

What is becoming?

Is it something bound by laws and restrictions?

Is it something that is dictated by the dogma of another?

What is my fate in all this?

Does what I think matter in the face of the unfolding universe?

Why can't I be Happy?

Why is it that I try so hard to be good and all I see is bad results, failure, I am poor, I am sick, I am in debt and yet all around me evil thrives?

What is the meaning behind this life?

Is it all just a game?

I want to be close to God but there is so much between God and I, God would not listen to me. I am unworthy.

Have you ever thought about any of these questions?

Of course you have...

If you say you have not then you have never lived.

And if you never lived you would not be here to think in the first place.

Becoming has nothing to do with laws, regulations and dogmas. It has not to do with overcoming the state of sin into which you were born. You were never born into sin, rather you became sinful because of your unknowing....It was laid out for you to be so. There are those who see it and realize the entrapment.

You were born into a reality wherein, according to social consciousness, there are many, many rules. However, you were never told the rules and you only find out about the rules after you break them. You are constantly, throughout your experience, being punished for not following them and ruled, for the most part, by an unseen and judgmental God, who will have nothing to do with you and whom you presume has deemed you worthless.

You must make yourself worthy, which once again is a confirmation of your unworthiness, and then you are told you may become as God is. But there are so many ideas of God, so many versions and names for this intangible entity... an Entity who demands you subjugate yourself to HIM or HER and then refuses to have anything to do with the responsibility for creating your life of misery, suffering and pain. You are told he made everything, and yet he claims no responsibility for HIS creation and everything wrong is the sum result of your wrongdoing. But you don't know what is wrong and right, because HE never taught you, HE only sends HIS messengers to administer the punishment for breaking HIS rules, which HE never told you about in the first place.

If this be your God, then your God is a voyeur, and not a God who created anything. Yet, in the stillness of nature, in the singing of the wind we know that this God cannot possibly be.

You are told that you must learn to be thusly, which is always someone else's idea of perfection, and you never seem to quite achieve that... "Sorry, chum, perhaps in the next go-round." And there are still the many who would condemn you when you talk about reincarnation, after you are told that you will pay for it in the next lifetime? Confusing, is it not?

You are told to seek God's voice and guidance and yet when you come back with the information you are told that you are mad, and sent off to the gallows to receive your punishment for blaspheming God. While straight away across from you as you are being marched up the gallows steps you see one of another faith who is being canonized for the very thing that you are being condemned.... Confusing isn't it?

Becoming has not to do with any of it. For in becoming you become what you are in spite of that which you do or not do. It would be more correct to use the term unfolding when referring to yourself as becoming in the human drama.

There is no place to go, no thing to attain....that is the game of the donkey chasing the carrot at the end of the stick in front of his face. The donkey never reaches the carrot, and thus most of us never attain our dream..

And the Dream...What of the nature of the dream?

Is it your dream entirely?

Or is it someone else's dream you are living?

Have you ever pursued a dream, say a relationship for instance, only to find that upon achieving the desired situation, the result was entirely different than what you had hoped, and that you were better off in the dreaming of it than the living of it? Of course you have.

If you say you haven't ... Well, now, just how many relationships have you had in your life? How many are you having?

The problem is that most of us are living someone else's dream. We are rushing to and fro trying to be what someone else expects us to be. Looking for approval, for some one to say:

"You are a nice Person"

"It is OK. You are acceptable..."

"If you dress this way and talk this way, you can keep your job and work until you are used up and make me rich.."

"If you act this way I will love you.." GET IT?

Life is like a river, and your life is the character of the river. Ever notice that no two rivers are the same. Nor is one part of the river liken to another.... You are much the same. Your river is the river of emotion.

In order for you to be what you are you have to be free and flowing like the river. But this can be difficult because the river knows what it is, and you have forgotten. So you try to be one thing, one special thing, and one thing really good. And then everyone gets tired of you; you even get tired of you...

The river is constantly changing moving laughing and playing upon the rocks, climbing up on and receding from its banks all the while accepting the Goose as well as the frog, the unicorn as well as the worm.... the Saint as well as the Sinner.. It is never concerned with whom or what it is and thus it always is just what it is...the River.

Recognized by all who see it... regardless of their faith, creed, culture, race or sex. Even the animals know what the river is. The trees even know, which is why some grow near the river and others away from the river...Oh, Oh.. That's a stretch ...

Hmmm... To think the trees have preferences...that would mean they think, maybe even feel.... After all how did they develop a preference in the first place?

Preposterous you say? Not at all - there are volumes of books and information about the thinking feeling nature of plants... There are even those who might propose that it is humans who are unfeeling and non-thinking. And by the state of affairs around us on the ill and ravaged planet, where untold millions of people die of starvation and sickness when there is no need for such an occurrence...Well, their argument would be an interesting one, would it not.

Where do we come from?

Where did we come from? This is important to know else how could you discern if you were coming or going? It is sort of like the story I have heard from every astronaut I have met in the course of my travels who successfully completed a voyage beyond Earth's atmosphere ...We on Earth are always looking up at the heavens and yet when they were in the Space shuttle, and on the moon they were always looking up at the Earth. Now that kind of gets one wondering which is up and which is down doesn't it?

You were never alone, nor were you were never abandoned. Nor are you slated for purging or annihilation. For mankind has never been judged. There will be much purging of self by mankind in the beginning of this new century. But mankind judges themselves... Most are separated from the source. Most have forgotten who they are, and the why of their manifestation upon this plane. Some would say we were condemned to live out a meaningless life upon some cursed rock in the far corner of a forgotten universe... These would be those who have given up their power and become disillusioned on their own created shadow illusions. Mother Father God Never abandoned you... That story is a false belief! It is, Oh child of God, a myth.

That you need to reach a destination?...That you need to achieve something unbelievable? ...Well, perhaps in a manner of speaking, for what you are seeking is yourself. You do not have to become something to know God; it is more a process of unbecoming the illusions that you are. For underneath the many layers of illusion the Image or Altered Ego has built over the seeming many life times you have participated in this dance...You have lost touch with the divine simplicity you are, under it all. Remember, you are the you who is having the dream...

You all have known Father Mother God, the Source of all that is and could be. In the moment of your Isness you chose to come here to realize the dream, the very thought of God. In that moment you were one with Mother Father God and then you descended down through the seventh Heaven, and the Sixth, the Fifth and the Fourth, to manifest here in the lowest spectrum of the Light that could hold your form - Third Dimensional Reality where God expresses physical form. All this did you do that Mother Father God could know itself in its Isness. You are the eyes the ears and the breath of God. Here upon this plane all that you experience, all that you feel and are is God... all of it. There is no thing that you would cast your eye or mind upon that is not God

Through you, Mother Father God with all its names and faces in this and other worlds comes to know of its creation and the full scope of the Isness that God IS.. Becoming is a process that is the experience through freedom moving the thought into an expressive value, wherein we can express in the totality of the individual thought rather than the limitation and constriction of our thoughts.

Becoming is the process of unfoldment - an unfoldment from our limited self, our constricted self to our expanded self. It is a journey into joy, and creative realization wherein we voluntarily relinquish our addiction to limited thought and remove ourselves from the chains that bind us to ignorance.

Through the relinquishing of these illusionary boundaries, we are again placed into contact with the supreme source of all that is. Presently you are a cloistered being, which is one wrapped in the existence of the flesh; we perceive through the flesh, we create value through the flesh, all of which is ruled by limitation and humanity's own self-imposed superstitions about what might lay outside our limited self.

We suffer through endless lifetimes of trying to attain, never allowing ourselves to realize that we have already attained and our dilemma is in not allowing ourselves to realize. The unfoldment of becoming is allowing ourselves the opportunity of discovering all aspects of ourselves that we may be in all understandings, realizing we are so much more than our bodies, and perceiving our reality as being merely what the body needs and wants. This is but a small part of the immenseness of what we are, such a small part.

Our bodies are a wonderful collection of works accomplished by unlimited beings. We could say we are a conglomerate of thoughts, of ideas and realizations in a state of Isness, which is now in the process of realizing itself. We are Gods unfolding.

The principal of your essence body is as vast and endless and as unlimited as your thought can take you. How often have you heard and even utilized yourself in your understandings that " ...You are a spiritual being having a human experience...." How many times?

Yet through all your pursuing through the endless experiences you create for yourself to realize this, you keep trying to put your spiritual self back into the bottle. Realize that Spirit has no form that is not temporal. By its very nature once it has perfected that form it holds no purpose for it. For in the moment it is perfected it becomes something else. For your essence body, your spirit self, is eternally flowing through the river of life and all its possibilities.

It is God seeking itself, all of itself. Your essence body is as unlimited as the supreme source itself and exists beyond your present ability of comprehension. The senses of the body can only take you to the point of realizing there is something more, and then the spirit in you seeks to become that something more, which is when you come into contact once again with that from which you are composed, which is Light.

You are in essence a Light principal; a particum of the Light that created all that in a moment... the twinkling of an eye....through which the principal of thought might realize itself. Mother Father God became man to experience its greater self and the vastness of its unlimitedness in order to understand limitation. To understand its Isness through a minute portion of its knowingness expressing through a constricted form of its knowing that God might learn to express through matter and lift mass unto the Light from which it came.

That God might lift mass unto the heights of awareness of itself as God expressing. God became man that God might know the senses of the flesh, to smell the flora, to sense the emotion of lovers and the joy of birth. That God might come to know and understand all that is within the realm of being man, and 'tis true that man is one of the Father's most precious creations if only in the fact that God keeps allowing mankind to express to the limitations that man as mankind is presently, could express until the time of Awakening, when the human experience has exhausted itself in the feelings and perceptions of its limitation and become ready to move onto greater aspects of itself.

God chose to express in our form and to experience through a process of feelings thus enabling the emotional realizing, that God as mass itself would once again return to its source, the divine Father Mother Principal. We keep trying to place human logic and linear thought as to the why upon this realization when it does not apply, for the Supreme Source seeks only to realize itself in all of its manifested creation.

The Isness of the Supreme Source cannot be defined from a point of perception locked within limitation, for again the Supreme Source is spiritual in nature and defies form and its manufactured forms of logic. God is limitless and the source of the very Light that creates form in the first place. The God mankind tries with little success to explain is so unlimited and vast as to have manifested and expressed itself through in over 10 billion universes and easily as many dimensional realities...The mind as we presently experience it, and which is prized so highly by some, could not possibly grasp the fullness of this reality...It is incomprehensible.

For the mind of itself is born of limitation and experiences presently through the restriction of the flesh. The mind that experiences its reality through limited thought cannot even understand its own immortality and divine existence in an eternal state of Isness. It can only contemplate the possibility of an undiscernable feeling that it is something more that it presently understands itself to be... because the mind is bound and in service to its thinker...which is you who are having the thought...

And as long as you slumber you will only know a limited perception of all that you could be. Mankind is itself a slave unto body-mind commitment, never allowing itself to unfold fully in fear that it might lose the concept of what it thinks it is. We are where we are because we think we are such, and allow nothing more. But this is not entirely our fault; there has been and continues to be a manipulation of sorts of that which physically prevents us from realizing what we are, and it is a most unfortunate circumstance for many.

However the time of Tyranny we have so long endured that has kept us bound in limitation is at its end. Already it is a no thing by the very fact that some have, and more continue to break out of the slumber and comma of limitation and that of itself has set all of mankind free if they so choose.

What we are seeing in the world today is the death throws of a thought form that has already served its usefulness in the human experience... Limitation and enslavement to tyranny....One that has no place left to go..

Where are we going?

What are we to be if it is more than what we are and we cannot yet realize what that something might be?

Well, these are very good questions. Keep in mind that the unfoldment of becoming cannot be reversed, for a portion of mankind has already realized itself. A portion of the Light particum has already set itself free... and soon the rest of us will follow like migrating birds back into the Light from whence we came.

You need not understand in totality that which you are becoming, only the principal of getting out of your own way and allowing it to occur. There is not one caterpillar that knows ahead of time what it will become. The caterpillar knows only that it is time to build its chrysalis and prepare for a seeming long awaited sleep...A sleep in which through the greater understandings of its feelings it will dream what it will become.... What a pity that there are no schools of enlightened caterpillars to learn from...

The purpose of this experience in time is not intended for the annihilation of mankind, not the demise of mankind, rather the exaltation of mankind as God-man, God-womyn realized. This time is the fulfillment of a cycle and thus will be the ending of that which created it. For in the moment we are realized we are no longer that which was struggling to become realized.

The adventures of the body have been great. We have warred and explored all manner of the physical plane of limitation; we are destined to become something much greater than this meager existence, but in order for mankind to realize what it is becoming we will endure, by choice, yet much more of the chaos and the birthing pains of what we have created in order that we would develop the ability to stretch beyond our limitation and learn to allow ourselves the opportunity to become something else.

It will be as it is seen a lesson hard learned, and the circumstance is one entirely born of choice, and not judgment. For mankind has never been judged...Mankind has been allowed to be what it is, that which mankind thinks and allows itself to be... Understand?

In the contemplation of what we are becoming, what will we become indeed? We are still of flesh, so in the opening up to becoming more, what will we become? Each time we roll our eyes inward and contemplate the expanse of our beingness we begin to perceive with each experience the infiniteness of our beauty... And we begin to realize that we are much more than the collection of molecular structure that equates to flesh and blood, and an existence of limitedness.

We begin to develop our awareness of being a feeling entity, one who soon moves beyond bodily feeling of the limited self and enters into an ocean of feelings. We begin by desire to explore this ocean of feelings, and the result of those feelings are expressed in the understanding of outward expansims of the body which is experienced through the convulsions of the body reacting to the resulting emotions.

Emotion is not born of the body. It is born of gratified thought, realized thought. We have lived as wandering nomads, and, as well, the products of social consciousness in our cities and suffered the limitations of the regulations of those societies we have created. Each of us has experienced the whole of it, for we have been all aspects of that social consciousness from its heights to its depths. All of it by choice...for we wanted to... We wanted to know it all...We were the sensors, the antennae, if you will, of the Divine Source that through experience would enable us to formulate our concepts of individualized self.

Unfortunately, through the experience of social consciousness and striving to be the ideal of the masses, or suffering from being ostracized because you were not, we have developed very limited perception of ourselves, and have become not only shortened in our days upon this plane, but the wearing down of our will has resulted in our bodies becoming very weak and prone to all manner of disease, sickness and neurosis of the mind, and dementias of many forms.

We suffer these imbalances to the degree of our thinking that we must eliminate one another in order to create a better place to continue the dream of imbalance... This very day you were being sprayed like the insects that invade the farmers' field...Look above you and wake up...

We have become so imbalanced in our playing with limitation that we create all manner of things which now inhibit us from becoming the essence of realized individual self. We have fallen so low as to barely be able to sustain our own life force within. In fact humanity as it is presently seen is at the brink of its own destruction... as well as much of life around it that has hosted its existence upon this plane for eons...

Why bother? Why allow this path of imbalances and destruction? Why bother to allow this absolutely wretched expression of the Supreme Force to continue at all ... Ahh... This is the questions of angels ... Why must we go through this experience... What purpose does it serve? And yet, when on the other end of the question, when the victim gets to see life through the eye of the tyrant...does the tyranny cease? Or is it simply another tyrant born quickly to replace the worn out model?

'Tis good you are not the whole of Spirit ... the Mystery Mother Father God and only a part of. Thus you were not in the position to give your edict and end the wondrous plan of it all, and who knows which side of the eye you would have been on when you thus evoked your edict upon the canvas of Light and reality became fixed... although asking why was part of the process of becoming. To wonder and ponder our existence, to experience life time after time of death and war, rage and plundering...the ultimate playing out of tyranny upon this plane...

Through the process of becoming we have come to realize the emotion of it all. The mind is a hapless thing that can't even remember its own decree from the day before...for the mind is not the soul. It is the soul which directs the desire of the God within to manifest in the here and now.

And the soul comes to know a thing through emotion, understanding and developing our ability to control emotion. It is with the element of emotion that we come to manifest all upon this physical plane in the first place. It is through emotion that God created all that is in wonderment around you, and continues to do so. Emotion, the magic in the elixir, for through emotion we come to know passion, and through passion we manifest our desires upon the canvas of Light we call Life.

For we are all artists of a sort here upon this plane creating reality as we choose, exactly what we need to know to answer the question we have of the moment.... Each of us choosing to live exactly as we choose to live anywhere, as any color, with any belief, as any gender, as both, as tyrants, as princes or as paupers and sometimes both in one lifetime...We are shoppers at the market place, picking and choosing our realities as we see fit.

Can you see the wonderment of it all? When were the last moments you took to watch it occurring around you? And on how many levels? We have been given an opportunity upon our individual canvas of Light to co-create a virtual reality through which we might experience all manner of this reality as a living dream. Of all that we might come to master, the art of understanding and commanding emotion and the resulting co-creation of dream making should be the supreme desire of the initiate. We are Gods becoming, Gods going through an Awakening after many centuries of slumber....

This is as I have said in my earlier works Through the Eye of the Shaman, is the gift of Kryah, an understanding which is older than this Earth herself, for it is through the process of Kryah that she herself was created in one glorious moment of Light we can only perceive as being untold billions of years ago...for we got lost in the process of it all seeing things through the eye of the frog, instead of the Shaman.

And what say you of calling upon the genie to lift us from the perils of this plane, the torture and self-destruction and the poverty and sickness? What say you to having three golden wishes?... Now, as masters in training you have even more set before you; for yes, you may summon the genie and some have at first impulse, and had their three wishes. But some have contemplated and desired to be the genie...and to this end, a very few have succeeded.

Still others have gone to an even deeper desire, and sought to become that which created the genie...and these have become the Christos, the self realized expressing in your reality both male and female. For be it known that there were many womyn who have attained, in our terming of it, and there will be many more to come for this is the season of becoming. This is the hour of mankind. The time where mankind gets to write the pages themselves...

For what deeper feeling is there than the heart of a womyn who weeps for her lover, or the loss of her child as it is being taken from her and sold into the market place.

And when an Emperor such as Marcus Aurelius one of the greatest of Roman Philosophers ponders the universe such and once thought:

"All things are implicated with one another, and the bond is holy; and there is hardly anything unconnected with any other things. For things have been coordinated, and they combine to make up the same universe; there is one universe made up of all things, and one God who pervades all things, and one substance, and one law, and one reason." [7.9]

Or Yeshua ben Yoseph, as he sat upon the mount and spoke unto the peoples gathered ~~~

Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the kingdom of heaven

Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted

Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth

Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness

Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy

Blessed are the pure of heart for they shall see God

Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called sons of God

Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness sake

Blessed are they, which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

Rejoice, and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in the heavens.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called Sons of God...

Or you could have chosen the pondering of a sunrise or beautiful sunset as did Monet, or the divinity of human passion and emotion encased with the divine human as did Michael Angelo, or the sound of the fairies upon the wind as did Bach or the passion of romance such as Chopin.

Yes, you could have chosen to be a Christ rather than a thief in the night ...but you haven't. Why did you choose your present reality? Why are you living and playing the part you hold so dearly, as if it were the essence of who you really are? Why, you protect it with your very life, and yet know not what it is you are protecting until the final moment when the breath is drawn for the last time and you remember it all.

These are the things which you must contemplate in these final hours of the present human drama. For a new drama is already birthed, and a new perception is already aloft in your heavens. Humanity has already begun the process of transcending its reality. The Awakening is also a process. In this time you must find it within yourself to strive with all your heart to rise above the sleep that is now befalling mankind. There are forces at work on both sides... those that desire to see mankind attain full memory and become, and those that do not. Mankind has always been an enigma, and quite a controversial undertaking on the part of the Father...

Mankind has a reputation for being a rebellious lot, and it goes back a long way. Yet the Mother Father God of all that is has never lost faith in the ability for mankind to develop into something magnificent.... Something that has only existed in a very few who have attained and gone beyond the dream school we call earth. Because of these few magnificent beings, our kind has been spared many a time from complete calamity.

But the season of man as we have known it is over, and a new season as well as a new beingness is already occurring...for this is the time of Christing. Did you really think it would be easily done? This is perhaps the grandest initiation that you, or I, or any of us has ever experienced... We are waking up from our own trance; we have been asleep for a very long time. If I were to tell you all that it is about, and all that you are, you would not believe yourself, never mind me...Think of it as an Initiation, waking up from a trance... That is the easiest way ... The rest of the knowing will come to you as you draw it to you...

We all have at this time the opportunity to return to our God-self and to walk again in a divine reality; but, we shall not become realized entities until we have gained mastership over our emotions. We shall not press on from this place until we have awakened and own ourselves fully.... To wish upon a star is one thing.... To manifest our reality is another and emotion is the key to both...and the key to owning our Godliness as a realized Christed being...

The others, the myriad of faces and players will remain behind... This is not a rapture I speak of that will be occurring or a lifting by entities from above. They quite simply would not have us in their reality as we are; they could not....If that is what you are waiting for, well, best wake up and smell the coffee. Time to break camp and head on out...No one, no group is going to come and lift us out of anywhere...This is as I have inferred, an Initiation and it is not something that came out of the blue so to speak... You have been given fair warning. Many of us have carried the word and will continue to do so...

You are being given a rare opportunity here to live your life without having to return over and over... You are, in this time, able to struggle through your relationship catastrophes. You are being allowed to go to the extreme of the dark side of your personality and to return full measure for the experience that you might own it and be done with it.

You are being given the opportunity to go full steam ahead towards a goal and then realize the opposite - this is not what I wanted - and correct your course of direction in this lifetime in almost a realized moment, a fractal of a millisecond if you look at it from your divine aspect.

You are walking now through the hall of mirrors, which I have addressed in my works Last Cry and Winds of Change...and again in Through the Eye of the Shaman. You have a reality in both worlds...and sometimes they are merging one in and out of the other...Who you were this morning when you awoke is not necessarily the entity that abides within the robe this evening...non the less in the next moment. You are being given the opportunity to integrate all your beingness, all your scattered characters into one unified persona.... you are being given the gift of time to allow yourself to become whole.

For as most of you are now, there would be little hope of crossing over into the foreverness of your own consciousness, you are too scattered... too uncertain of who you are. You simply would not hold up in the stress of it. Here in this plane you have the advantage of filters between your thought and the manifested reality...where you are going there are no filters...you think and you are...Where we are going we need to love and accept the whole of ourselves, not just a part of ourselves. It will take the whole of yourself to BE.

How Can I be expected to accomplish this all upon my own?

Yes, there will be help for those who do not fully awaken, many of us who dare to realize the truth of this whole process will assist those who are lagging behind, but the time grows short for both now. The clock has already struck the midnight hour and the drama of FEAR has begun. The playing out of the illusion will intensify - all things will intensify the choices are you making...

We are becoming more of what we are...with every breath we take the distance between worlds shortens...with each step we take, and each action or non-action we employ.. To go backward, to go back into what we came from, the greatness of the void, and to become angels again we cannot. We have only to go forward into it fullness of being. So there is in at least this respect now confusion, for we have only to go ahead and to become.

Everything we have experienced here and continue to experience has been for the sake of understanding and mastering the virtue of emotion. Social consciousness has pressed the ideal that it would have you become; in of its own concept it is flawed. For the ideal differs from one peoples to another, from one culture to another and from one day to the next.

Facing our Truth

In the next twenty-five years of your counting, your world will undergo such changes that the concepts of that which you presently call reality will no longer apply. Therefore you must strive to allow your feelings to come to the surface. You must strive to create the environment in which not only your own feelings can be realized but those around you might also have the same opportunity. For your feelings are the only touching stone to understanding your emotions, which are the language of your greater self and the Supreme Source.

Why do you think your light workers have placed so much emphasis in this time about exercising the emotions of compassion and allowing?...About the urgency of becoming non-judgmental. For they have been given a glimpse of what is in store, and to whatever degree, they are aware of the changes already manifesting upon this plane.

There is an ongoing force within humanity to break away from the gridlock of social consciousness. Its laws, its regulations, its petty ideals, its philosophies built upon limited and partial truth become a war raging within the inner being. Nothing seems to work out as has been prescribed.

Relationships become empty and meaningless. There seems to be no justice, and no sanctuary for any one that does not all at once dissolve upon the testing of it. Our desires no longer seem to give us fulfillment and we wander like lost sheep, until we are at the mercy of most any one who seems to have a plan, a direction even if it does not follow our own Ideals...

When we succumb to the tyranny surrendering our individualism we enter a labyrinth that has no exit, save to destroy all that is seemingly the walls of our reality and the matrix of synthesized comfort, living in a place where nothing is real, nothing is genuine - everything is surface and redesigned through cosmetic surgery.. Life becomes a pattern of wandering around a stage, moving down the street and in with the new lover only to find that we have only recreated the same old pattern within a few short weeks.

Once again we find we are having to face the same old fears... Each time we face them anew we are lessoned in personal power, and the problem becomes more complex, mainly due to the fact that we have enhanced our levels of denial. Finally we give up any hope of finding our way out, because everything we think is not in alignment with the norm, we are told, is dangerous and criminal in nature.

In this process of becoming the body will continue to realign itself; it will continue to develop in accordance with the creative consciousness sitting within it. So it is the consciousness we must address in this process of change, as we ourselves are driven by the very forces of nature seeking to realign itself to the turmoil and conditions of the time.

God's reality is all encompassing and touches all that is, but your reality, your perception of reality is an illusion. It is through the pulsing of the illusion - made up of the emotion - composed of the feelings - of which God's reality is made. What one sees until one learns to see with the heart is but a fragment of the greater reality which surrounds them, nurtures them and allows them a sense of being. This is a feeling universe, and it communicates with each other facet of itself through the transference of feeling... It is called the web of life. The master learns to interact with this web realizing one can never dominate it, or control it; rather it is like playing the strings of a harp. One can learn to bring forth its harmonious effects into their perceived reality and expand that reality to the farthest star if they so desire.

It is through your interaction with the web of life and the perfecting of your own personal technique that you will grow and change in accordance with the divine plan. This is how you will know where and when to change and how to change and you will become that which you feel you are... in the core of your being. Understand how immense Supreme Source is...All that is pulsates - the flora, the tree, the rock, the chair, the eagle and the butterfly. The great mountains and the stars in the heavens... all things pulse to this rhythm of life issued forth from the Supreme Source...

When we are in a particularly destructive mood all of life reacts to that feeling we are transmitting. Everything responds to the dominant feeling in the moment. The master learns to move along the spiders web and to read those subtle energies and thus know before it occurs what will happen, for the vibrations move along the web of life in a continuum - never ceasing.

Notice even the subtleness of feelings, the layer composition of feeling. Ever should we seek feelings depths, that in its core feelings are a living thing which manufactures all manner of form but of itself has not form to speak of...? This is the stuff all things are made of; all things, even you. Only you have a particular essence quality in that you can create feelings as well as receive them in grand order and at will. That is why you are such a precious creation to God, and it is what makes you like no other.

We are indeed in very stressful times. Perhaps in many ways it is humanities finest hour, and yet in the same moment we are at a precipice of the greatest darkness we have ever known. We are now face to face with that which is the cause of our cycles of self-destruction.

We have only to reveal it for what it is and the evil continually contaminating the consciousness of this fair planet and its peoples can be changed forever. Or we can continue to deny the reality and presence of our spiritual nature as we have done for so long; we can continue to worship material power and wealth and turn away from the Divine Source blindly following a path that leads to our inevitable destruction.

Not the destruction of the planet, for this Emerald of the universe will never be destroyed by her creations; she will simply become uninhabitable for they're kind as she has done before. She knows who she is and in her consciousness there exists no doubt, only hope. Hope that we will see in time the proper pathway and take the scepter and become all that we can be as she has dreamed us to be from the beginning. We have been supported in our experience every step of the way, and she continues even unto the final hour of the present reality.

The Ending of a Cycle

The drama has indeed played itself out in this cycle to such an extent that there was no place new for consciousness to go... No new way of expressing - only decadence and redundancy. In a way, humanity has created for itself a no-other-way-out situation. Change is inevitable and must occur for humanity to break away from its present constraints, the limited thinking binding us in a prison of paralytic proportion.

Do we create war? That seems the easy and obvious way; after all we are very good at war. However, in the present scenario we could create such a war that could escalate to the extent of Armageddon and the prophesized end of the world. Or do we instead choose the path less often traveled and find a new way?

In order for humanity to create a new way it must find a way to connect to an energy greater than the energy which created the present situation. You will need to access a greater thought! A greater realization perhaps!

So much to ponder, and this is not a time of idle perusing, is it? No indeed, this is a time of taking action and knowing that humanity will do just that. So what course of action shall humanity take?

Strange is it not, to look Through the Eye of the Shaman and have to deal with the probabilities rather than simply be given the outcome? Whose out come would that be the outcome of Robert Ghost Wolf as he sees it, or the outcome of you and how you see it? Better, but harder to reason it out yourself, given the correct information and probable scenarios. Humanity is, after all, quite predictable; even given the present tearing of the time-line continuums, we can see some obvious conclusions.

We are, as I have stated many time before, engaged in a War of Valued Life upon this plane. The present reality is cloaked in illusion yet the pulsing of life, the heart beat of the Supreme Source which can be felt through all its veils is the homing device which will allow the reality of God and God's Creation to become prevalent and clear. God-Man God-Womyn realized is what you are to become and neigh not a force in the universe can prevent that coming but yourself through your devotion to denial.

To succeed at becoming one does not restrict us from feeling and from expressing loves deep feelings; one allows them all. For the master is the stigma of the virtue of the God Force, the feeling sensory of the mind of God realizing all that is and that could be.

The body as well as the consciousness of the body-mind will continue to become so that which is within it can become an all knowing, all feeling personality in harmony with the mind of God to which it is connected for eternity; this shall we accomplish through right use of will given the understanding through the mastering of our emotions. For what is emotion but God in motion - touching, moving through and being a part of all that it has created in a moment eternal and ever unfolding unto itself.

All this brings up more questions....

How can I understand these coming times you speak of, you ask?

Who will guide me?

How will I know right from wrong?

To this I ask you, does the Sun speak?

Do the stars that light up our heavens speak?

Does the meadow speak?

Does the water that flows laughing and playing over the rock and through the forests and makes its way from the mountaintops to the great valleys speak?

Does the Moon speak?

Or the Rose...? Does the Rose speak?

So what does speak to you? What and where is it that you have a sense of yourself, from where does this knowingness issue forth? Mother Father God in infinite Isness is also silent being within the emotion of himself.

And as you become and begin to allow the God Force to manifest, the Joy shall overtake you and you shall each of you have a sense of divine revelation as you begin to see the divine beauty not only in yourself and your own perfection but also in each other and all that is around you. There is a perfect plan and an order to all which God has created. One thing in alignment to the other, each balancing the other...It is an awe-inspiring dance constantly performing its miraculous displays of a grand drama for all levels of realization in the same moment.

The limitations of arrogance born of undeveloped emotional understandings shall begin to dissipate and fall off self, as self become a feeling and aware creature, moving to the rhythm of life rather than against it. And your knowingness through the allowing shall become profound as you begin to reunite with the God, who created the nature of the reality around you. And the God within you shall come into ownership of that which it creates.

The change has already begun. It is stirring within you. From whence does change issue forth? Is not the greatest sense of the life force felt within the tiny seed of the Rose. Suspended in darkness possessing only the feeling of itself and following that pulsing to formulate its direction and thus becoming and bursting out of its shell into life form as God expressing itself through the Rose... and with it, aroma and color and precious healing oils...

Yes, all this you can easily learn from observing the reality around you and yet the Rose is silent, is it not. It does not impose itself upon you, nor does it seek to awaken you. Yet if you so choose you may speak to the Rose through the miracle of the heart, and the Rose will respond..

The Earth we live upon is no different than the Rose...Neither are you. You have been living in denial so long that you have forgotten what you are. You have forgotten your connection to divine source and so the Rose for the moment knows more than you do. For the Rose knows it is eternal and everlasting...It does not question its beingness or connection to the Divine Source that gives it life. It does not damn the sun nor the rain, nor the wind, nor the insect that comes to feed upon its nectar, nor the person who haplessly comes along and plucks it from its nest to place it upon the dinner table.

With all this to consider, how will the drama unfold?

There are so many possibilities...

These things of which we are about to speak are presented in the Light of the Christos. This, that mankind might have the ability to respond and take rightful action. That the love for mankind by the Mother Father God of the universe, creator of all that is... the Supreme Source might be realized.

As it is seen now, the curtain has been raised and the drama begun. The hour is midnight and there can be no going back...only the forward thrust of humanity becoming in its fulfillment that which it is destined to become in divine providence.

This unfolding drama shall be experienced on multiple planes of reality and the choices shall be many presenting themselves before you. The pace shall quicken a hundred-fold. And it is only your feelings that will guide you through the storm that is coming.

Mankind is about to embark upon a drama of unprecedented immensity with far reaching effects the likes of which mankind is presently incapable of perceiving, for the results of this drama which would be played out on a global arena would affect countless generations of all species that presently exist upon this plane. The importance of the balance of the whole has been lost to mankind's perception and the consequences of actions taken are too quickly forsaken for the success and power of the moment.

And what of the heavens... What is it that is occurring?

And what of the heavens? What, if any, is the reaction of the heavens to all that is about to transpire upon this plane? Much is being done and much has been done in preparation for the unfolding of this event. Presently there is a frequency that has been placed around our planet. Its presence can be felt in the unexplained sense of urgency and the Quickening of events.

We have all had our sleep patterns altered and in many cases the sense of peaceful repose is no more. We have experienced our diets and our desires change radically in a moment. Many of us can no longer eat what we subsisted upon just a short time ago. We are feeling physically as well as mentally disorientated, and this is all to press upon us the necessity for change. Change in diet, and relationship to all things.

The pain and suffering we are experiencing is due to our resistance to the changes called for and our refusal to break the patterns of our past. This will continue to intensify until such time as we learn once again to follow our inner knowingness and seek out the resources for renewed balance and harmonious balances required by the body during this time of transition. It seems hard pressed for humanity to understand that Change is normal and that not to change is to be abnormal.

All that is needed has been provided and is more easily accessible in our stores and apothecaries than ever before in the history of our kind. It is best to seek the natural resource in all instances, as the effects will be slower in responding but longer lasting. In fact they will promote and rekindle the body's own measure of chemical production which it is totally equipped to do; it was designed for this and it is its rightful purpose in hosting the divine essence that dwells within.

The frequency band surrounding our planet can be felt and is being realized as a tone or high pitched ringing in our ears and vibrating through our bodies as well as the land. The animals are reacting to it, even the flora, and all life forms save humanity still reigning in its depths of denial. All manner of life form expressed upon this plane are responding to the shifting of consciousness that is occurring.

There are those who are aware of this frequency and would try to alter its effects upon our plane. In a sense, challenge God. Their attempts, which are still utilizing destructive forms of chemicals and frequency patterns, shall prove futile in the long run.

And they will not be rendered much longer without obvious detrimental effects being witnessed globally throughout our world. The skies above our heads have become cesspools of toxic and deadly filth. Already nature is suffering from the effects; all of nature and the Earth are taking actions accordingly.

The purpose of the frequency that has been placed around this Emerald Planet has been to intensify the polarity between FEAR and JOY. Presently our scientists are witnessing it as a great band of blue light, a corona of sorts, surrounding our planet and all its life forms, even unto our molecular structure. It is causing much talk in the scientific community and even those who live humbly in their hovels in all parts of the earth are aware; and as well, it is causing the infraction and altering of light upon this plane.

We are seeing the results of this in that which is known as the Northern Lights, which are now being witnessed even in the southern most portions of the land, and in great Light storms occurring in our upper atmosphere and upon the Sun as well.

That which is occurring upon the Sun reflects that which is occurring emotionally here upon this Planet and expressed through her species. It will soon become a great concern as it is realized that this knowingness of the web of life which stretches far beyond this little rock in the farthest most region of the outer universe is not a theory but a scientific fact.

The Dance of the Tyrants

We are now beginning to affect all that which is around our planet, as she experiences the throws of illness and imbalance, all around her will and are coming to her aid.

The polarity of FEAR is being played out through the dogmas of organized religions and in the political arenas through the use of war and tactics of terrorism and the rumors of endings. As well, it is presently being employed by some to eliminate those who oppose their plans for world domination through chemical and frequency bombardment of that which lives upon the Earth. The Earth herself has become a target, as well as the Sun who responds to her calling.

Know that the entities who make the understanding of these games and how they are played have perfected the Art of War to a very sophisticated means. They are calculating the effects and have no compassion for our humanity and no sense of fairness. They are exacting gods, though rebellious in their natures, they are zealot in their desire for control not only over their brothers and sisters, but of the planet and Earth's destiny as well.

The other polarity shall be in the JOY of awakening; there will be those that by exercised will shall raise themselves above the grid of social consciousness and draw unto them the divine knowingness of God, the JOYS of being of beginning the Isness we are and always have been.

What use is it to speak of tomorrows if they cannot be seen?

What use it to speak of future realities unless it is now felt within our being?

The frequencies now being employed from the higher realms and imparted to our planet are drawing the deadly toxins and pathogens that would annihilate mankind and all life forms in the reckless pursuit of power and the desire of some to cheat as it were, in their becoming. This is, as well, setting forth a balance within the consciousness and that upon which the consciousness exists and functions...This is drawing to our Earth our brothers and sisters from above the Earth as well as those that reside beneath her surface.

The tribulations prophesized have begun with the sounding of the trumpets heard as tones everywhere upon the Earth without exception. Even those beyond this dimension are taking part in the Awakening. Many events are already being recorded of unexplained phenomena and the splitting of realities will continue to be reported on ever-larger scales as the intensifying of the polarities is felt upon this plane.

All of you who read this will in the next few months, if not hours, feel the heights as well as the depths of your emotional beings. Feelings without the words to express them and all of your experience will take you beyond reason and logical explanations.

This of itself will be your testimony to the truth being presented here. All of this humanity will experience even unto extremes of electrifying feelings that will push you out of your bodies in order that you might know that you are more than that which encapsulates you in limited form.

It will become necessary to learn of these things and to understand them for it is a necessary part of your experience in order that you become able to move out of your bodies so that you can merge with the different realities you will be experiencing as the molecular mass of the body expands to allow the issuing forth of the great Light that is being pressed upon our plane.

For it will be necessary in your understanding as well that you might understand the occurrences of events about to be played out in the human drama. Much of what will occur you have already manifested in thought. And this also will be a realizing as you see the effect of your thoughts play out in the hologram we call life. For the human experience is none other than the expressing of thought upon the canvas of Light which your eyes and mind perceive as living reality.

This will be a great undertaking to observe the results of your thoughts; both divine as well as misaligned thought forms will express in increasing number. The swiftness in how reality manifests will even be felt in your intimate being as well as your personal reality. As you learn through experience, that which you embrace and harbor with emotion manifests almost instantly. As you observe the very nature of reality breaking out of the veils of illusion, and in a manner of speaking, all of you will become seers of the divine principals of truth.

Masks will fall away and the essence of people's true intent will be bared before you in an instant. Castles will fall and the synthesized reality you were programmed since childhood to believe was reality will dissipate in the wind. This will cause a great scrambling and FEAR in the very hearts of the tyrants who would control the peoples of this Earth, and we can expect drastic (although temporary measures that will fall short), attempts will be employed to regain control,

However, it will be like trying to stop a waterfall with a butterfly net. For as mankind's created reality plays itself out so shall Divine Providence. It is the ultimate destiny of mankind to be triumphant and to regain their place as true sons and daughters of the Light. The beast of manufactured thought and manipulated reality, as well as its manipulators of illusion, will raise up their ugly heads and the breath of the beast will be felt across the land. But soon, they exhaust themselves as they have only themselves left to feed upon. These things have already been set in motion by our own decrees and we are Lords of Light, the extent of which we have yet to realize.

The War of Wars

Upon this plane we will experience the playing out of war in the drama mankind has also created in their imaginings and we will witness the Anti-Christ for a time, as well as a great war in the planes of Mesopotamia...for we have breathed life and continue to do so into the myth of the Armageddon.

Those who draw it to them will experience this; it is their choice and divine decree that it do so. And it shall be a horrific experience as they have directed. Such an evil mankind will not yet have witnessed as their own reality of hate and fear, ruled by tyranny, as they engage in the war of wars.

And in that land the rivers will dry up and a great famine shall arise. Disease shall be rampant as the Kings and leaders of the Eastern lands march Westward unto the final confrontation. Great armies of now unrealized alliances will gather in great numbers, as the whole of the world watches from their electric arenas. The grandest spectator event in the history of humanity will play itself out upon the fields before the shadow of the mountain called Megiddo. There shall the forces seen and unseen have their moment.

There will be a preliminary game that will last a short time which shall be used for propaganda and the securing of the Anti-Christ his worldly throne. It will appear that one has risen with the powers of greatness of the anointed Kings of old. Be not fooled by the false peace that will follow for a brief time, for soon again the cauldrons of hate will boil over as ever greater theatres of terror are spread in all the kingdoms of the Beast.

Another precontrived battle will be staged as panic and fear break loose even within the camps of the Earthly Prince of Darkness, for already those who possess the same knowledge as he that would manifest in the patriarchal land of the Reptile as the holy emperor will feel the shortening of his time.

In desperation, the theater will be renewed for all the Beast can do is repeat never-ending cycles of terror and destruction to throw fear into the hearts of a now watching global society locked into the control of the electronic media. This will be the ending, for the emotion released of contrived hate shall devour itself in its own fury.

The Earth shall reek from the smell of blood and the stench of death on that day's ending. And the feeling of hatred shall rise upon the blackened smoke that shall fill the sky and take on the appearance of a giant beast appearing as if to block out the very sun itself...

Then all manner of strange and unrevealed machines of war will be loosed, as the world of the blind observes the drama as if watching computer games being played upon a screen. The Earth herself shall rise up in response to the emotion released in that day of human hell. As well, from the ethers there shall appear first a ploy whereupon it will appear that the image of God has appeared in the skies everywhere simultaneously as the believers see it. For a time we will be stunned as they watch the manipulation in the sky played upon the clouds of death.

Then there shall come a moment of intervention whereupon the scene shall be altered and the playing out of the Supreme Force shall capture control of the Light and three warnings shall be issued. First there shall be heard such a noise that it will appear as if the very bowels of the Earth were opened and it was spilling forth. It shall roll across the land and shake the mountains round the world... in a moment. All will be bewildered as it is occurring.

Mankind will observe a Light that appears in our heavens that would block out the sun in its greatness. If mankind does not heed the first warning then in a moment the battlefield itself will become as fixed in time, a frozen landscape wherein neigh a sound would be heard.

Then as if in a moment all would disappear, vanished forever and only the empty fields would be left and the moaning of the masses and the anguish of false faiths crumbling like stones before all eyes to see. For nowhere shall there be an explanation for what has occurred.

The leaders of the false faiths will be as naked babes, powerless over their flocks...All will appear lost and humanity, those caught in the gridlock of social consciousness, will fall into a great dark night of the soul. Then a great series of occurrences shall begin marking the turning of the cosmic clock.

Harmony through Conflict

While this great theatre of horrors is being played out (which will occur over seven years in our counting) there will be another reality emerging simultaneously. For the children of the Light shall not be forsaken even in this time of apparent utter darkness.

Many will find comfort through these times in emerging communities wherein the children of Light will gather and commence with the birthing places of the newly realized knowingness.

The kingdoms of the righteous shall at first be small and vulnerable in nature. The emotionally wounded and those who have lost all they have to the false conditions of the dying societies shall seek places first of refuge and solace. Many women and children will be abandoned in these times.

As well there will be gathering to these places of the elderly, those who have acquired the wisdom of their years and possess understandings and technologies that have been given from the divine source awakened within them that they might have that which was necessary to survive the Apocalyptic events of the end times..

Here humanity will begin, out of necessity, to develop values and behavior that at first will be created for dealing with the situation of the moment. The need for healing and compassion will be of great magnitude.

Many will witness children of highly developed awareness with which they seem to have been born into this world. These are the children of the new Manu, the new race. They shall possess a way about them beyond their years that will demand the respect of those around them.

New technologies will be employed for the needs of survival and well-being and sustaining these little communities many of which will emerge in the outer most rural regions of the world.

While in the urban regions the talons of the Beast will be exercised for ever more and even more control over a world gone out of control, but here in these hidden and silent communities the beginnings of a new and realized humanity shall begin to form.

There will be those who have wandered with the knowing of the coming of these times, who will have gathered knowledge they were instructed was for a time yet to come. There are so many of these people in this world who have had experiences they cannot explain where they were imparted with great knowledge and were instructed that in a future time you will remember and know why this was given to you, but now is not the time. You all know who you are. And you have learned to dare, to do, and to be silent.

This has occurred in your remembrances and comes as a flash, little vignettes in the midst of a failing reality. It is realized in dreams, and moments where you recall an event with such burning clarity, only to lose it in the next breath, often leaving you to wonder, did it occur at all or did I just imagine it occurred?

Some of you have experienced this phenomenon as images of experience where you may have been taken aboard the great ships of Light. Others have been spoken to and lifted up by Angels; you may have spoken to a Native American figure if you live here in America, or perhaps you met the Masters of Light who sometimes walk into our reality and then become in our recalling as a dream we had one afternoon.

Cosmic Soup

There are those who have learned how to remove themselves from the pressures and false realities of the cities and social consciousness and gained an ability to communicate with the elementals and spirits of a place... The ways this has occurred in your dream walk upon this plane are as diversified as the number of human cultural beliefs and again as many ways of individualized human experiences...

Shaman, Buddhist, Catholic, Jew, Baptist Tibetan, Native American, Black White, Red, Yellow or Blue, Celtic, Wiccan, Egyptian, Mayan, or Moslem. That which is the Supreme Source looks upon all of its creations as divine, and all that is human as an expression of Divine Source. All of it.

Judgment, separation, higher, lower, mediums, smalls, larges - these are things of human games, not of divine origins. And they are not a reality once you pass this plane and there is no such thing as death only the ending of an experience and the passing through the portals of Light separating you from the fullness of yourself and your connection to all that is.

We are all involved in an experiment here, and we are all passing thru a transition of temporal existence, trying to understand limited mind. What you appear to be in this form is but a fractal of the magnificence you are in your totality.

Many will watch in awe at the occurrences transpiring during this passage from one level of reality to the next. As the caterpillar turns and sleeps within its chrysalis, it knows not what a world of wonderment it has in store for it when the time of its emergence is at hand.

There are those among us who have good hearts and yet are locked by circumstance of the human drama to particular cultural beliefs. These entities will play out the realization of that chosen experience.

There are those who are so far out there they cannot even describe the nature of their belief systems in a linear way any longer. God has sent his missionaries to all corners of the Earth to work in all cultures and beliefs, and to express on all levels of the human society, for neigh a one of them shall ever be abandoned or left behind. Even your Grey men can become awakened, and some of them are.

Life doesn't work like that anyway; that type of thinking is a result of the limited human experience. You have been told time and time again, if you had the ears to hear, that you were never judged and there is no exception to this. There is no degree to this, everything, absolutely everything you have ever experienced you have drawn to yourself. The reasoning of why and how is not always clear when you are trying to realize them from limited mind.

It is the human condition to struggle ceaselessly between one perception and another, comparing one way of thinking with another. We are all running around trying to get a sense of ourselves constantly. That is why you get into the mood where you are just dying to talk to somebody about your realization...You just to have a sounding board.

Hey I'm Ok right?

See how clever I am?

Do you love me even though I just realized this and that makes me different?

Oh, you don't agree? Hmm... Does that make me wrong?

There is not one of us who is not a child playing out a fantasy about how we think it all should be. The point of the game is to one day come to the realization that they were all right.

You say that you want to become God... Try this first ...Try for just one day giving everyone you meet the right to be right. Then you'll begin to get the idea of just how omniscient God is. For the second phase, ponder that as being a truth in over ten billion universes and as many dimensional levels of expressing Gods reality...Remember God allows every thing to be.... Everything has the right to express its beingness.

The circumstances of life will bring all peoples together; we all will have to let down our walls. We are going to find ourselves in situations where we will be working alongside those who have very different views than we do. We are going to have to learn to work with and communicate with people from all social levels of life... Now that will cause a lot of taboos to be discarded, will it not? I know this is a stretch for some, but this is only because you are lagging behind the tempo of the dance... And the dance goes on with or without our participation.

Does that mean we will have to allow everyone into our life and embrace all things..

What about evil?

Good Question. That shows you are thinking and not just taking my word for it all.

We will learn to practice as a daily exercise Discernment, Discretion, Detachment and Desire. It is inevitable that we are moving into a 4-D reality. To allow does not mean we necessarily embrace a thing. It is easy to become the wise sage when all you do is live in a cave and never interact with another individual; there is, after all, no one to contest your chosen reality.

The testing of self-realization is in the employing of it in your everyday living of it. To be human is to be communal - to seek relationship. Ever been with someone who lives alone in the woods with the only company being their pet. Interesting how they communicate with that pet...Why it's almost a surrogate human relationship. Which is also a good observation of us - If we don't have it, we will create it.

By the way, I've tried living the life of a recluse aesthetic and I called in fifth dimensional teachers, sometimes just for the company. Did you ever wonder why in Castaneda's books don Juan Mateuse created all those bazaar experiences in his life...He was bored.

Yes, there will be great struggles and friction that will quicken the raising of humanities vibrations to meet the need of the hour. Strife and war - that is the old paradigm. Joy and Exuberance flow though us sounding an inner awareness that the new hour is coming, the dawning that approaches as the morning draws near and the darkness recedes and melts into the light of day...The day of God is at hand. And no one enters the gates of God's Kingdom unless they can hold the vibration love within their being...

The Awakening

What be the mythical gates of heaven we hear about in the scriptures?

They are the high vibrations of the Isness and all that prevails within is emotion and feelings. In order to become, you must feel the becoming. It is not the hour to tarry; you have slumbered long enough...Wipe the sleep from your eyes and come forth into the Light that Father-Mother of all things might know your continence and you shall walk together in the garden of your own creation.

All of you are filled with anxious anticipation and yet no one can see quite what the feeling is about. Humanity is reacting to frequency that is affecting the whole, and there are people pointing fingers in every direction and at everyone. What you are experiencing is darkness just before the storm, when the air is electrically charged and change is afoot.

The storm is inevitable but know that after the rain of human emotions washes you clean, you will be introduced to the whole of the Galactic World and the preparation and the cleansing shall commence in accordance to the degree in which you direct your focus and intent. That which is Heaven to some, Shambala to others is not a mythical place. It is more tangible than your own reality and accessible by all.

You will, for a time, experience chaos, for it is necessary to accommodate the change that is coming. As this generation matures already the new one is being born that surpasses all previous ones in its ability to comprehend and exist in the higher frequencies of God-Man God-Womyn realized.

Many of these new communities will in the decade to come manifest in order that those who have endeavored to explore and to expand their abilities to feel and developed their abilities to know Joy and Love shall see the dawning of this Age of Light. The cycles of death and self-destruction shall continue on their course and all who lack the ability for this greater sense of unperverted Love and Joy shall be polarized to its frequency and there shall be a great spilling of blood and the whaling of the souls caught in a labyrinth from which there is no exit.

Only those who have the ability to feel in totality the emotional understanding of God shall pass through the threshold of the new dream. Upon the battlefields of the War of Wars all shall be frozen in time as I have said, and then in the heavens a great Light shall appear. The Light of a thousand suns. This Light shall be there for twelve days in our counting, and there shall be no night the world over.

That which is understood presently as the conformity of time will utterly change, and as well the consciousness of this entire plane shall also change utterly. The tyrants who have perpetuated hate and war, jealousy and bitterness, and manufactured disease for the sake of the enslaving and the manipulation of the whole of humanity, shall not see the dawning of that day ...

This event shall occur not as a Purification nor as Purging, for humanity does not need a purging or a purification, humanity simply needs. Nothing during the experience of these twelve days of Light shall be altered, rather everything shall be exalted to its heights of existence and understanding. What will be occurring shall baffle your scientists and there shall be no explanation for its occurrence in the known reality.

Many will run and hide their heads in fear and they shall ask the mountains to fall on them, when this Light comes forth from the heavens. Fear will ravage the multitudes and many shall cry out that humanity in this moment has seen its epic and they shall say it is the end of all life as they know it, and in that they shall be correct. The electromagnetic field that pulses its constant waves upon which light expresses as life form shall be increased a thousand fold. And everything shall be moved in a moment into the blue light of being and then they shall pass into the violet light and become their thought realized.

Those who have held steadfast will transcend all things now seen and thought shall realize the value of light principle and understanding through expanded consciousness. Those who can realize Joy and Love shall as it were realize the rapture of all knowing, and realize that in their becoming they were correct. And theirs shall be the knowing of the Christos, and the powers that it commands shall be theirs to command.

Humanity shall learn through its developing awareness of the Light principle to travel about not in machines but upon pure light. Thought shall manifest in a moment and where one wished to be they shall be. There are many already expressing upon this plane who have accessed these principles and as well, methods of healing that would confound the present scientific mind. All this has been pressed into the consciousness in order that it would be available when the time was needed and the time is at hand.

We will see with increasing frequency upon this plane orbs of blue and green and orange light appear. This will be a result of the changing of the light frequency of this plane and those who are assisting in the advancement of humanity through this time from the age of darkness to an Age of Light. They are to be witnessed everywhere in your heavens and if you cared to interact they have and would continue to do so. For they are very aware of you and all that you are. They are a feeling species, all of them, and they can and do communicate with you through feelings, not your intellect.

When they are present they literally increase the electromagnetic fields and all who are aware of them are in contact with and experiencing that expansion of the Light principle upon this plane. The huge fire balls being experienced in your heavens of blue and green and white light are bringing back a balance, although enhanced, in order that they can increase the light frequency upon this plane, resulting in heightened awareness and feelings of clairvoyance in many individuals...

And there are many of you who have endured hardship for the sake of your understanding and development of the higher ideals and values. You have struggled for many a year to fit in, as it were, and have not been able to. You have moved from place to place and recreated yourself as well as your life style many times over in this experience.

This you have done in order that you could meet the demands of adjusting to a life that was constantly changing and morphing before your eyes. Struggle though you may, you will never be accepted, for you were not born to this life for what was, but for what is to come and was not yet seen in the light of day.

And there have been still more of you who have shone so brightly and sought to be the force that issues forth the change that is at hand, and you have felt that you have failed. You have not.

You have sought to light up the flame burning within your fellow man and your words and your deeds fell upon deaf ears. Those who have been used and abused in all manner and nature by those who sought to steal the very light that burned within you, that they might possess it for themselves. The Light cannot be stolen nor manipulated... It is of God.

You have been ostracized and cast out into the wilderness only to seek another way back into the labyrinth, and to see it occur again over and over.. So you think you have failed. You have not.

Did you think they would love you? Did you think they would welcome that which would cause them to look upon themselves and say, "I am incomplete in my learning." They will not.

Did you think they would cherish you for showing them the true path, that theirs had been a futile journey through dogma and ignorance? Did you expect them to love you for this? They will not.

They would only embrace you for a time thinking that they could enhance their own abilities played out in endless cycles of continued endings and temporal experience, once feeling they had learned everything it was you had to teach them, they would just as soon have you crucified and done away with. This in order that you would not remind them of their own inability to lift themselves out of the murk and mire.

What you learned and experienced, and as well, what you have come so far to realize in the greater truth, was for your own experience and knowing, not theirs.

You grew because you chose to, and now it is your hour. For you were born not to enhance what has been, but to nurture what will be as the Light presses inward from the heavens and cause the expansion outward of all limited mass and thought reality.

You shall be renewed and given a true sense of direction in these times; therefore, you must now develop your ability to allow that which you have come to know to manifest. And in order for that to occur you must create the space for it to occur. You must allow yourself to just be, that you might now become your own ideal of yourself. Stretch to your highest thought of yourself and dwell therein. The less you resist the quicker you will arrive at your destination.

In these times you will see all manner of insanity, mindless humanity acting without reason and meaning. Your feelings that there are forces at work beyond the comprehension of the masses, 'tis true. You are not mad. But be aware that there is a greater force you must not forget that allows this to occur so the Awakening shall be quickened. All that perpetuates upon this plane is for that moment to manifest.

If you slow yourself to resistance and move into reaction to that which is around you, you will only draw it to you. You will slow your own path, and fall out of rhythm with the greater force that guides you and calls you through the void. Learning to trust yourself is difficult, yet the only way you can achieve knowingness.

Consider always your words for the spoken word is very powerful and it manifests as realized thought and is experienced as gratified thought, always. Speak your truth simply and plainly. And live the ideal of yourself at all costs for the hour of your awakening is at hand; the clock of the past has already struck the midnight hour and all that is will soon change beyond the present understanding.

Twelve Days of Light

Just prior to the twelve days of Light you shall bear witness in your heavens many anomalies of light. There shall be a thundering and tones that shall send many to seek being saved by their manufactured myths of God. These things which shall occur in your heavens shall let you know that the War of Valued Life will have now lifted from the Earth herself and is being played out in its final hours in the heavens.

Those of you who have learned the disciplines of meditations and ceremony should seek your natural places that you have been instructed to prepare. For when the heavens begin to dance, all manner of reality shall begin to shift upon this Earth. And you shall be entering the final hour of the tearing away from false beliefs and dogmas.

In those days you will experience that vastness of the Great Void and you will open doorways that are as yet unrealized, doorways that will enable you to realize all that you are, and the decision to go or to stay shall be placed before you.

It is for those who choose to stay this message of Light is intended. For you shall become the messengers as well as the defenders of the faith. It is through the process of becoming and owning all that you feel and the mastery of emotion that you shall overcome the darkness that will descend upon the remaining fixed humanity and the consciousness that was woven of the past.

You shall in a moment find yourself standing side by side with the great beings of Light, the Elohiem and you shall be in that moment become the new Elohiem as God-Man God-Womyn realized... The ones who shall resurrect the Earth and her kind though the emotion of it that you feel and can manifest into being. You shall face the final warriors of the Dark Prince and all that has empowered him, the very source of his beingness shall you confront in those final moments of the shifting. And you shall dispel the illusion that has held this plane in captivity for eons of human experience.

In the twilight period the Earth changes about which you have been forewarned shall begin to commence as a new Earth forms. There will be the countless flocks wandering to and fro without purpose who will seek nurturing and direction in those times. They will be those who could not quite make the leap of faith, as it were, into their true existence. And you who elect to stay shall be the Shepard's who tend those flocks thru the twilight time as the final emergence of the Fifth Heaven occurs.

This you will do as the moment of the final tearing away of the veils of illusion shall be removed in your stratum and within your Earth. For although there will be a quieting of the drama upon the physical plane, the war of the heavens will still rage on in other dimensions, and much of this will still bleed through the fractures that have occurred in your past.

Metaphysical Truth shall Prevail

But the way will have been opened and there will be a progression back and forth between the dimensions as humanity realizes its true reality, once again. The slumber will be over for a time and new life will be appearing in all forms upon this plane.

Many will experience that which was, as being once again, for the holograms of Light will have been corrected and the dream will issue forth as it was intended in the beginning. And the collapse of time means the collapse of the dream. And all things return thus to the moment they began the journey of imaginings.

There will be many who will remain for a time in-between worlds, caught by the webs of their own making through their thoughts and perceptions of how it shall be. And this would be a story of its own in another telling...For there is much upon this plane occurring at this time that humanity is not yet prepared as a whole to know.

And the passing of this period shall not be determined in time, for time as we perceive it will have become a no-thing....Just a pulsing of the cosmic heart.

2002 will prove to be a year of manifesting that which we held with our deepest emotions and thoughts. Some will lose ground others will gain, depending upon their abilities to come into community and to put aside petty differences and as well, whether or not they possess the ability to take responsibility for their actions, their thoughts and their emotions.

It is time to requantify our emotional outbursts and the years of emotional vomit and irresponsible behavior we have left behind us. The Earth, Our Mother, simply has had her fill. We keep perpetuating our bad relationships like those trying to ignore the inevitability of a coming divorce. You can't act like you did not do it; you have to "fess up", as they say in the west, dear ones.

Humanity has a simple truth before them they can "Fess Up" and take charge, or "they will get their come uppins.." For the Dancer of Dancers is about. Judgment? That is only another way of creating escapism. First, it assumes that someone else is most likely guilty; therefore, the God of Gods will render Judgment upon all of us for the doings of the evil sinners...

Though it is not our fault, even though we allowed it, even though we turned the other cheek.. Well, that way simply won't cut it any more people. God would never punish you for his or her crime. God punishes no one. It is our irresponsible actions that bring upon us the laws of cause and effect of the universe.

The Hall of Mirrors

You have heard me talk of this often. We will all experience this - all of us. When was the last time you held a dark thought over someone? When was the last time you allowed your lust within the sanctuary of your mind? You are as guilty of the act as if you had committed it...for Thought Creates the Nature of Reality.

It is a time for each of us to take a stand; 2002 will be for some a year of great manifestation and for other a year of it being stripped away... A time of great revealing and the masks will fall away and many of those whom you followed will be seen for what they are, no different or magical than you. Their illusions will no longer sustain them. They, too, must own what they are.

It is not the committing of an act that is wrong. It is not the committing of an act that brings damage to you soul; it is the lack of owning it. The damage is in the denial, not the owning of the act.

There is a great polarization occurring upon our planet and, as well, within the human consciousness. This polarization is coming from above, below and within. Looking outside for some place to hang the blame will be of little solace, and the answer is not there. 2003 will catalyze many things, for it is the year the new cycle predicted in the old calendars begins, both the ending of the old dream, and the beginning of the new dream.

We cannot look at any event any longer without realizing the part it may play in the greater scheme of things. There is a great unfolding taking place, one in which humanity and all life upon Earth will be exalted. And the day of darkness will be miniscule in comparison the Light that all life upon this Emerald of the universe will experience.

This Light shall come as the Eagle and with it all the attributes of Eagle medicine path will be engaged and endured. And when the Eagle lifts its wings all that have chosen self-realization and closeness to the Supreme Source will be lifted along with it, to total awareness of what and who they are. And all things, and all peoples shall be polarized to the manifested reality they have chosen.

And some will call it the Day of God, for in that moment the 'Christ Consciousness' of all humanity will have been realized... in a moment. And those who do so shall lift their voices unto the heavens and say " It is enough." And from the heavens shall come the reply.
